You've Got Us Wrong

A woman in Lindsay pulled and sold 15 lbs. of raspberries from the patch in her garden. The early harvest appears to be a success. The early harvest appears to be a success. The early harvest appears to be a success.

About Court Reporting

Back in July when The Post changed its policy about reporting when cases many other papers commented on the difficulty of handling this news in a satisfactory to everyone. A few of them said that they were better to print all names of people coming up in court or to print none. Others said it was better to consider each case individually.

Explanation Conditional

The editor of the Daily Star, having a good eye for business and being desirous of presenting the best interests of his readers, has had the "Record" for an explanation of the fact that Kitchener "doesn't see as many patients as the rest of us."

POSTALS

Newspaper editors who complain that there is no news in all their papers these days rarely can supply any more with things as they are in Europe. The trouble is that there is that kind of news the majority of people want to read.

PRESS OPINIONS

MARKING THINGS WORSE
(Under Cities Star)
German Communists accused of firing the machine gun in Berlin have been observed of rank at the mock trial which has just terminated in London and the finger of suspicion is pointed now at the Nazis themselves. The findings of expert judges gathered in the British capital indicate the blame was wholly Hitler's strategy, destined to arouse public opinion against the Reich.

Fence Is Well Under Way
All Posts Are In

COUNCILLORS HELP

It won't be long until the unsightly town dump, just across the street from the Union Highway, will be screened off from public view by a high board fence erected by the Lindsey Women's Institute with the aid of the Town Council and unemployed men.

Work on this fence, which will be five feet high and nearly 300 feet long, is progressing rapidly. At present all the posts are in place to the number of 50, and work on the rest of the fence will be pushed quickly to completion.

The actual labor has been done by several unemployed men whose special relief committee of the Town Council. Another big saving was made to the Institute by May-

Ferguson, chairman of the Board of Works, who mapped out the work to agree with the commission laid down by the Department of Highways, and thus saved the expense of paying an engineer to do this work.

Halloween

As epidemic order at regular periods, the district is about due for another outbreak of Irish Halloween pranks, in which people are injured or killed. In case there are any people who feel that a wild Halloween would turn up the district or who have forgotten punishment meant to be offered to keep this thing before them, they would save themselves a lot of agony by looking back at the Irish Halloween of the last century.

At that time a group of young boys would assemble in a certain small village and the country for miles around it for farm implements, furniture, and everything they could carry away. In the morning the village was a scene of confusion. There was a pile of hay as high as the village, and the village was a scene of confusion. The police were called in, and the men and women were taken to court, where they were tried for their crimes. They were found guilty and sentenced to prison.

Something Unusual

The Board on the Unusual incidents of the Post-Horse records an unusual occurrence, three times in one with one of the first being brought to the fore.

"Can you figure anything more unique than happened here Saturday?" asks the Post-Horse when the driver answered a call to extinguish a burning truck at John Street corner and up drive a smoking engine for that truck work. The man and his young brother of interest the Department's truck backed into a pool of gasoline painting a big hole under the gasoline fire truck's and for a few moments threatening all vehicles crossing toward that vicinity. Still, more nervousness and fear.

An Object Lesson

A smart New York department store the other day presented one of the best object lessons yet devised to show just how the fruits of a rising price level are to be reaped.

In a full-page newspaper advertisement, it pointed out pictures of men's shirts. The shirts were identical in appearance, in material, in cut, and in workmanship. One of them sold for 40 cents, the other for 12.

The shirt which was the start, the shirt had no buttons at the collar of the shirt. The shirt was one that is on sale now.

The man who gave the shirt for the shirt-shirt, the advertisement pointed out, lost money on it.

might get a little bit less than that. The men who employed the workers in these establishments were the mechanics, and the store which sold the shirt was lying on the deal.

But, of course, for the purchaser, it was a bargain.

Now for the 12.5 shirt.

But the first rule was the cotton for it got a decent profit on his crop. He paid his pickers 10 cents per acre.

LEGION SEES PICTURES IN KIRKFIELD

KIRKFIELD, Oct. 25. — (C.M.A. Correspondent) — The pictures in the Presbyterian Church, Kirkfield, were shown by Rev. J. H. Dicks, assistant minister in Cook's Church, Toronto, on Sunday last, October 22nd, at 2:30 p.m.

and adopted as correct, and the of-ficial record, Miss Park read the following: A young people's rally was held in Knox Presbyterian Church, Woodville, on Friday, October 21st. All are extended an invitation to be present, also the next evening of the young people will be a social meeting and will be held at the home of Mr. H. P. Hayes on October 21st in the form of a "Bible" party. All are asked to meet in the park diagonally at 8 o'clock on right hand.

Miss Park then asked Rev. J. H. Dicks to address the young people. Mr. Dicks gave a very vivid picture of John Knox, his life and his death, and how he was crucified to leave his country, and then came back to his native land and spoke boldly for his Lord where ever he went as much as St. Paul did in his day. He had a conviction and stood by it.

The address was religious and instructive, and all were very grateful to Mr. Dicks who is a very busy man to wait over an hour to speak to the young people. Mrs. Hayes then sang a pleasing solo. In the hour of "Total Abstinence" for Mr. Dicks the closing hymn was "Thy Word Breaks an Evening Blessing."

Receives Legacy Of $13,500

When Miss Monica Dorothy Brand, niece of the Duke and Duchess of Barchin, was married at St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church, London, on Mr. Drury Lambton, nephew of Lord Durham, she received a legacy of about $13,500 left to her by her grandmother, Lady Monica Lambton. The legacy was to be paid on her twenty-first birthday or her wedding day. The bride and groom shown after the ceremony.

SHOULD WOMEN BE KEPT IN THE HOME AND NOT ALLOWED TO ENTER INTO BUSINESS CAREERS? This question has been around again since the debate in one of the neighboring villages where the affirmative side was in the majority. In the afternoon when the affirmative side was in the majority, the negative was upheld by the majority. The judges after a close decision awarded the victory to the affirmative. And again the question was brought up in a construction in the afternoon when the affirmative side was in the majority. The statement was made that there were not enough people for the amount that is being produced and the negative was upheld by the majority. The answer given by one of the contestants was that millions of the men had been killed during the war and that women had taken their place in the business world at that time. I had proved themselves as capable, and are still holding down jobs that men should be having. Women should be kept back in the home and the other and given the permission to marry several times would troubles would be over, and everything would be bright for everyone except the married man.

DOWN IN TUXEDO PARK which is the Mecca of American debutantes they are endeavoring to attract an old fashioned native at the annual summer dance, which is in the hands of a committee that holds on to its exclusiveness. They are doing away with the three men to one girl rule and having more numbers on the dance programs and shorter dances. There will be no cutting in except at dances, and the number of the dance will be posted by the orchestra leader in an old-fashioned way. Toronto debutantes are all having programs approved, but are not adverse to a few extra men at the party. A long step line they do not think necessary or advisable. There are not as many extra men they permit.

HETTER YOUNG AND HERE and there we see—Get out your hat and your bonnet and with the dates, but take a good look at the neck ruff like Walter Raleigh wore in his day. It's what you are going to be wearing, too. If you want to be on the up-and-up in fashion, they are quite the thing in Paris, anyway, while with a black velvet neck ruff for the favorite. Perhaps, rather than the children or the movie houses or the film industry should take the brunt of the blame, if children get bad ideas from the films so the Local Council of Women of Toronto decided the other day. Miss Harriet Wain, the oldest woman servant at Buckingham Palace, retired this week when she reached the age-limit of 80. She was recruited by the Queen who presided her with a sovereign of her forty years service during three reigns.

THE ALLEGED FEMALE in the old-time melodrama used to say, "The lass that teach liquor shall never touch mine." A recent dispatch from Washington on the proposed control of cosmetics and sale to "leaky," as a result of evidence before the congressional committee showing that some quality cosmetics, even poisonous in some cases, were responsible for blindness, skin eruptions and even death, may now be taken up by the male faction with the new sloganized version, "The girl who uses hair cream, breathing powder and depilatories shall never be ours, because we don't want a paralytic on our hands."

DAILY MENU—Breakfast, Grapefruit, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, toast, milk and coffee. Luncheon, Eggs baked in hammy, mixed vegetables, salad, baked apples, milk, tea. Dinner, Roast turkey, mashed potatoes, buttered carrots, banana and pease salad, Indian pudding, milk and coffee.
